Krissie Deeks is a native Coloradoan and has been a DPS teacher for 19 years, now in her fifth year teaching Early Childhood Education at Godsman Elementary.

Krissie is a hero who directly contributes to the success of her students every day in the classroom. She’s also a DPS Foundation donor, a proud member of the Team DPS Employee Giving Campaign, which has raised $167,000 since 2010 from generous employees like Krissie. “I give to the DPS Foundation because I believe in equity for all students,” says Deeks. “Every child deserves to have the same opportunities in school. I know what I’m able to do in my classroom for my students – but doesn’t every classroom across DPS deserve the same thing? When I give to the DPS Foundation, I feel part of something bigger, that’s helping meet the needs of ALL our kids.”

Krissie believes that programs like the A to Z Fund, Fit, Fun & Literacy and Lights On After School help give all kids a leg up on academic success. “I give because I see first-hand every day the difference these programs make. I give because I believe in every child in Denver Public Schools, and I’ll do whatever I can to support their success.”

The Cohen family is two generations of proud, committed Denver Public Schools Foundation supporters.

“The Cohen family is two generations of proud, committed DPS Foundation supporters. “For me, it’s a matter of responsibility and duty,” says Mike, son of Sue and Alan Cohen. “I grew up in DPS schools. I contribute and volunteer my time in DPS because I deeply care when I see the disparities between private and public schools in class size, resources and opportunities.”

The Cohens made a generous gift to support DPS’ Balarat Outdoor Education Center, which serves 10,000 DPS students each year. “As a child, going to camp was a big part of my life,” says Sue. “Later, counseling at camp taught me a lot about leadership and helped make me the woman I am today. That includes my love of music and singing. I can still sing every song I learned at camp as a child.”

By supporting Balarat, the Cohens recognized they were expanding DPS’ capacity to offer an experience that many students wouldn’t otherwise have. “It’s a shame that so many kids never get to see the mountains,” says Alan. “The whole program is set up around leadership building,” says Mike. “I want to know that all kids have access to that kind of learning experience.”

Ely Merenstein loves music; specifically piano, guitar and singing in choir. His love for music inspired him to do something very special for other children.

In 2012, 12-year-old Ely raised money through his Mitzvah Project for the DPS Foundation's A to Z Fund, specifically to support music education in Denver Public Schools.

"Music is a very important part of my life, and I wanted to help bring it to the lives of other kids who might not have the same opportunities."

Ely's commitment didn't end there. Now, he sits on the A to Z Fund grant review committee, volunteering his time to review applications and help ensure the funding goes where it will be most beneficial for the students.

"It makes me very happy to see music connected to kids through this process," says Ely. "I believe it's very important to give back, especially to something that means a lot to you, as music does to me."

Every spring, DPS students take to the stages of the Denver Performing Arts Complex for the DPS Shakespeare Festival – the largest and oldest student Shakespeare festival in the country.

In 2013, the DPS Shakespeare Festival simply would not have been possible without the support of United Airlines. As part of their ongoing and multi-faceted commitment to Denver Public Schools, United Airlines served as presenting sponsor for the 2013 Festival, providing the funding to make the Festival one of the best and biggest in DPS history. “United is proud to have helped preserve this treasured event for students and families,” said Dan Lynch, United’s Corporate and Government Affairs Managing Director and the festival’s Grand Marshal.

In addition to the Shakespeare Festival, United has served as the official airline for the DPS Foundation’s A to Z Fund since 2010, fulfilling travel needs for nearly 100 DPS students and educators. The airline strives to support unique educational experiences that take learning beyond the classroom walls, and we thank them for this extraordinary support!

Chanthay Na knows the value of collective impact. In 2006, he and several friends created a Giving Circle to leverage their individual generosity into something more substantial.

The participants of this philanthropic circle contribute annually into a collective fund, choosing several charities annually to receive a year-end donation.

“We realized that together, we could do a lot more for these great organizations than any of us alone,” says Chanthay.

Selecting the DPS Foundation as a recipient was deeply meaningful for Chanthay, a DPS graduate, and now Director of Chief Academic Office Communications for DPS. “It means a lot to give back to a school district that has given so much to my family and to me. And I know the difference it will make in the lives of the kids we serve.”
