

Jeff Dolan

Vice President of Regulatory and Government Affairs, Comcast Mile High Region
DPS Foundation board member since January 2012

Jeff Dolan serves as the Vice President of Regulatory and Government Affairs for Comcast in the company's Mile High Region, which includes Colorado and New Mexico. Dolan is responsible for regulatory matters and government relations with state and local governments. He manages all aspects of Comcast's involvement with local franchise authorities, local and state agencies and officials, and the strengthening of the company's relationships with elected and appointed government officials throughout the Mile High Region.

Prior to his role at Comcast, Dolan was an attorney at Hogan Lovells US LLP. He was a member of the firm's Public Policy group with a legal practice focused on political, legislative and government regulatory matters. In 2010, Dolan served as legal counsel to John Hickenlooper's 2010 campaign for governor and the legal counsel for Governor-elect Hickenlooper's transition and inaugural committees.

Prior to joining Hogan Lovells, Dolan was the Director of Governmental Affairs for Comcast Colorado, where he developed communications and media strategies to strengthen Comcast's business operations. Before moving to Colorado, Dolan started his career in Washington D.C. as a legislative aide for the then Senate Majority Leader in the United States Senate, and is a veteran of multiple statewide political campaigns.

In addition to his recent appointment to the DPS Foundation's Board of Directors, Dolan currently serves on the Board of Directors of City Year, and the Colorado Cable Telecommunications Association. He also is a member of the advisory council for Colorado Succeeds, and has in the past provided pro bono legal services to multiple candidates for elected office and several nonprofit organizations, including The Nature Conservancy, Bicycle Colorado and the National Parks Conservation Association.

Dolan received his bachelor's degree from Augustana College in government and international affairs. He received his Juris Doctor from the University of Denver Sturm College of Law, where he graduated second in his class. Other top honors include being selected as an "Up and Coming Lawyer" by Law Week Colorado.