

Kirk Mielenz

Executive Vice President, Client Services
RevGen Partners
DPS Foundation board member since 2015

Kirk leads client cultivation and service delivery efforts for RevGen Partners, a Denver-based business consulting firm that transforms companies through data. As the architect of the firm's business development and partnering efforts, Kirk works to develop long-term partnerships, making client relationships the foundation of every engagement. Clients respect Kirk for putting their needs first and owning their outcomes. Kirk's dedication to delivering measurable results and driving profitability for clients contributes to the firm's award-winning growth, with four consecutive years on the Inc. 500|5000 list of fastest growing privately held U.S. companies and a 90% customer re-engagement rate.

To ensure RevGen Partners attracts and retains the best and brightest talent to serve its fast-growing client base, Kirk focuses on building and sustaining a vibrant culture for the firm's employees. As Kirk and his co-founders built the firm from a small startup to a leading consultancy with more than 100 employees, he led many functions and worked to create a place where smart, committed people want to grow their careers. The firm's culture centers on RevGen Partners' core values of integrity, respect, stewardship and enjoyment. Kirk also makes employee development a priority, with a strong focus on growing the next generation of RevGen Partners leaders.

The proud father of three school-age children, Kirk believes in the power of education to transform lives. He is a strong supporter of those who need a voice to help achieve their goals. Previously, he served on the Board of Directors of the Colorado Chapter of the Learning Disability Association of America, a national organization focused on creating opportunities for success for all individuals affected by learning disabilities and reducing the incidence of learning disabilities in future generations.

Denver Public Schools played an important role in the lives of many of Kirk's family members. His parents and many other relatives are proud DPS graduates. Two of his grandparents were longtime DPS teachers. His grandfather, Frank Mielenz, was inducted into the Colorado High Schools Coaches Hall of Fame as well as the Denver Public Schools Athletics Hall of Fame for his dedication to DPS kids and schools.

Kirk holds a Bachelor of Science degree in international business and finance from Regis University. He earned an MBA from The American University Kogod School of Business and a Juris Doctorate of law from The American University Washington College of Law. He is a licensed attorney in the state of Colorado.