

Kim Allegretti

President, Venn Travel

Attorney, McCollum Crowley, Moschet, Miller & Laak

Originally from Illinois, Kim moved to Colorado to attend law school at the University of Colorado, graduating in 1991. She has been an attorney or a judge for twenty-eight years and has also owned several local businesses including coffee and knitting shops and a travel company. Kim has also served on the Colorado Nursing Board and the Colorado Board of Social Work Examiners, as well as on the boards or executive committees of multiple non-profits and charitable foundations. She lives with her family just south of Denver and enjoys travel, skiing, hiking and photography.

Honorable Kim Allegretti was appointed to the Office of Administrative Courts in 2010. Judge Allegretti conducts hearings in workers' compensation, regulatory law and human services cases. She received her mediation training pursuant to the 40-hour course developed by the Colorado Bar Association Alternative Dispute Resolution Section. Judge Allegretti graduated from the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana in 1988. Previously, she was in private practice for nineteen years in the areas of general civil litigation and business transactional work.

Additionally Kim heads the Fred & Jean Allegretti Foundation and has been instrumental in awarding dollars to DPS Foundation.
